

Asahidake & Tenninkyō Nature Letters

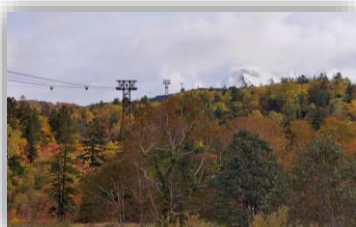

Sugatami Trail

At 1.7km, most visitors can hike in an hour

Sugatami was covered by snow on October 3rd. It is the earliest snow in Japan this year and was announced on October 4th. Mt. Asahidake is already in winter. Before hiking, make sure to prepare well for the snow mountains. Winter equipment is necessary. In winter, casual hikes can be extremely dangerous. The temperature is around 5°C even in Sugatami area, so please wear warm clothing when you visit.
